

Chamber Spurs Efforts To Obtain New Industries Here

Two Leads Followed By Committee

DIRECTORS of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce learned yesterday a plan for financing construction of a plant—to be amortized on a rental basis—has been submitted to Switzer Licorice Co. at St. Louis, Mo.

Switzer expressed interest in locating an eastern plant here. Chamber of Commerce conferred and learned the firm would need a plant for which it is willing to pay on a rental-amortization plan.

Arrangements were made for such a deal and this proposal has been submitted with a request that plans and specifications for the structure be returned here so the Chamber may become more specific in its plans to finance and erect a building.

Second Industry

Directors were also advised that a metal trades operation, makers of small parts in the electronics field, had sent a crew of engineers to the Stroudsburg recently to conduct a survey for a plant location here. Every assistance and courtesy was extended the engineers. The same firm is conducting surveys in other Eastern and Central Pennsylvania cities.

In this instance, the prospect asks for no aids other than the normal cooperation and assistance extended firms of its type. Directors learned the firm will make its selection of a site in about six weeks.

Requests of two textile firms for plant locations were also received in the past few weeks. While the Employment Service records do not show many persons registered for that specific work, Ralph Paul and other labor representatives on the board of directors said they conducted a survey through the Central Labor Union which produced more optimistic results.

The labor survey, according to President M. F. Crowe, disclosed that while persons may not be registered for textile work, there are sufficient qualified textile workers available to meet the demands of the concerns. This information has been speeded to the two textile industrial prospects.

Endorse Terminal

The Chamber endorsed the plan submitted some time ago by William Osborn for establishing a trucking terminal in Stroudsburg. The proposal, if approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and carried through to completion, would insure quicker deliveries for local industries at no additional cost and help to alleviate the local traffic congestion by having one routed truck make all local deliveries instead of each trucking concern make a delivery.

Osborn's plan already has been endorsed by the Monroe County Manufacturers Association.

Harold Swenson, executive secretary, was authorized to testify in favor of the plan at an ICC hearing scheduled for July 6 and 7 in the Stroudsburg Municipal Building.

The Chamber now has a special committee, created yesterday, to (Please turn to Page 10)

Mrs. Natvig Sentenced To Eight Months

WASHINGTON, June 20 (P)—Turnabout witness Marie Natvig was jailed today under a sentence of eight months to two years for lying under oath in the Federal Communication Commission's Edward Lamb hearing.

U. S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff fixed what he called a "moderate" sentence on the gray-haired 51-year-old Miami Beach grandmother and divorcee. The judge turned down pleas by Mrs. Natvig's attorney that she be given a sentence calling only for a probation, and that she be allowed to remain free on bond pending an appeal.

Mental Coercion Used To Make Fliers Confess

WASHINGTON, June 20 (P)—Thirty-three months in prison in Red China—33 months of bad food, dungeons, grueling "mental coercion," and finally a forced confession of flying under orders into Chinese territory during the Korean War.

This was the ordeal of Air Force Lt. Roland W. Parks, of the Air Force, set forth in diary form in a copyrighted article in U. S. News & World Report magazine. The story winds up with a trumped-up trial, an order of deportation, and freedom along with three other American fliers on May 31.

After hour on hour of questioning for day after day, coupled with loss of sleep and a low diet, Parks relates, "I could feel my resistance weakening."

"Solitary confinement," he says, "was my worst ordeal."

Beyond a kick and a couple of blows in an altercation with a guard, the diary of the 25-year-old pilot from Omaha records no physical brutality or torture—"The Chinese relied almost entirely on mental coercion."

Argentine Refugees Report Army Preparing To Set Up Three-Man Ruling Junta

BUENOS AIRES, June 20 (P)—Most of Buenos Aires today had an outward air of normalcy—under strict control of the armed forces. The military were instructed by their supreme commander, Army Minister Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, to maintain order and suppress unbecoming.

The Argentine state radi announced that President Juan D. Peron had resumed work, attending to his usual official tasks in collaboration with his principal associates.

Mild Version Of Eisenhower's Reserve Bill Reaches House; Drops Controversial Sections

WASHINGTON, June 20 (P)—A highly diluted military reserve bill was introduced in the House by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) today as a substitute for a stalled administration measure.

The Vinson version drops the controversial provision for a special six-months training corps for teen-age volunteers, which was the heart of the administration plan.

It also removes proposed authority for the President to call up a maximum of one million reservists without consulting Congress.

And it eliminates a controversial National Guard section, to which an antiregistration rider was attached by Rep. Powell (D-NY), one of the three Negroes in the House. It was this rider which caused the original bill to be sidetracked.

No Comment

President Eisenhower has said it is terrifically important to have an enlarged reserve program for the armed forces, but the White House had no comment immediately on Vinson's substitute. Vinson is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The House GOP leader, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, said he approved of the new bill and added, "I think it will be passed."

The original bill provided for a two-million-man expansion of the organized reserves by 1960, largely through the volunteer training program. After their six months training, the volunteers would have been required to spend 7½ years in the reserves.

Provisions Of Bill

The Vinson bill is aimed at building a ready reserve force of 2,900,000. Under present law, the reserve is limited to 1,500,000 men. Vinson said that his measure would produce a strong, virile reserve made up of men who, for the most part, will have had at least two years of active duty.

In other words, the reserves under the Vinson bill would be drawn mostly from the ranks of servicemen who completed their tours of active duty instead of from young trainees.

Defeats Move For Cut In Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, June 20 (P)—The Senate voted unanimously today for a $31,882,000,000 military defense outlay after overriding President Eisenhower's plan for a 22,000-man cut in the Marine Corps by mid-1956.

The vote on the big money bill was 80-0. It came shortly after the Senate voted by a hairline 40-39 to add 46 million dollars to keep Marine Corps strength at 215,000 men instead of the 193,000 Eisenhower asked.

The House, which passed the bill earlier, must now act on the extra money voted the Marines for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Army Cut Dropped

Plans to prevent a similar reduction in Army manpower were dropped in the face of apparent defeat. A move to increase Air Force funds also was abandoned after the Air Force recommended quantity production of two new supersonic jet fighters.

The Senate action followed a far-ranging debate that touched on all the military services and centered primarily on Eisenhower's status as a military expert.

A group of Democrats, led by Sen. Symington of Missouri, former Air Force secretary, urged that the President not be followed "blindly." They foresaw great dangers to U. S. security raised by planned reductions in military ground forces. Republicans, led by Sens. Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, urged the Senate to accept Eisenhower's judgment on armed forces strength.

Drop Amendments

Symington, who sponsored the increase in Marine Corps funds, dropped the other two amendments he had planned to introduce. One would have added 250 million dollars to prevent an 88,000-man reduction in the Army, and the other would have provided 200 million dollars to speed up production of supersonic jet fighters.

He dropped the proposal for more air force funds after Sen. Chavez (D-NM) placed in the record a letter from Secretary of the Air Force Talbot saying the Air Force had recommended to Secretary of Defense Wilson "quantity production" of two jet fighter aircraft—the F101 and F104. Wilson had said earlier he would consider speeding up production if the Air Force recommended it.

Symington told reporters that Talbot indicated funds were available as a carryover from the current fiscal year, ending June 30, so his amendment was unnecessary.

Speed In Production

However, the Senate adopted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) to put Congress on record urging speed in aircraft production so the United States "will not fall behind any other nation" in this field.

RENOVO, June 20 (P)—A dozen, tired, red-eyed demolition experts today dug ditches close to a broken well casing from which millions of cubic feet of highly explosive natural gas has been gushing out of a well near here.

"I guess I ought to know some 'gamblers,'" O'Hanlon sighed. "They'd probably know the odds on my winning again tomorrow. It sure would help to know."

Native Of Neola Visited Every City Over 10,000

By Leonard Randolph

NEOLA — According to Rand McNally, those well-known map-makers to the fine art of tourism, there are 1,400 cities in the U. S. with a population of 10,000 persons or more.

At least one 72-year-old man has visited every one of those 1,400 cities. He's traveled more than a million miles in the process.

His name is Howard Hobbs and he's a Neola native. Hobbs was a visitor yesterday at the house where he was born—a house now occupied by his niece, Mrs. Albert Gumm, her husband and their son.

Lives On Income

Hobbs has spent a lifetime getting to know the nation where he was born. In so doing he has also mastered salesmanship, marathon bike riding, devised a tourists' guide without commercial strings attached, set up a grading system for hotels and motels across the nation and—a couple of years back—retired to tour the country each year, living off the income from stocks he had amassed during his business career.

It was when he retired that Hobbs decided to finish off those cities with 10,000 or more population. Wouldn't be satisfied, he said to his wife, Maybelle, until he'd hit every one of them.

Much to his surprise he found out there were only 35 or 40 of them left to visit. Last year he stopped in the last one on the list—Helena, Ark., a city which he describes now as "really unique and beautiful, way off the customary tourist roads, the kind of town only one tourist in a million finds on a trip."

Visit Small Towns

This statement, oddly enough, sums up Hobbs' attitude toward touring in general. "Get off the main roads," he says. "You never really see the country until you take the smaller highways and stop in the little towns."

How does a man spend his life "seeing America"? For Hobbs the answer came at the age of 16. That was the Summer his father—Harry Hobbs—paid half of the price of a new bicycle and young Howard earned the other half. Bicycles were big on the market in those days and the "century run" was a favorite pastime among bike addicts.

The basic idea was to see how many cyclists could cycle 100 miles in 10 hours. Young Hobbs won quite a few of the runs with his new bike. Couple of months later he was ready for bigger things—he made a trip from Neola to New York City on the bike.

From then on, Howard's avocation was cut out for him. It was set to the rhythm of spinning spokes and the fresh, airy glitter of new scenes.

Started Own Business

Hobbs was no idealistic wanderer, though. Through his early youth he kept both feet solid on the business-like ground. He devised a machine which would make varying sizes of concrete blocks; went into business for himself and then decided he was his own company's best salesman and "went on the road" to sell his product. His plant was in Detroit.

Whether he knew it or not, Hobbs could chalk up another achievement in his early career: he became one of the few men able to combine fully his business and his hobby. Traveling the country over had been a good dream. It was even better when he could do it and make his fortune and enjoy it, all at once.

It was while he was working as a salesman for himself that Hobbs hit on what he later felt to be one of the greatest needs in America of that day; an unbiased, factual survey of roads, hotels, motels and eating places. To evolve his idea, Hobbs began consulting road maps, then drawing up "road profiles" which showed the elevation of highways in heavily-travelled mountain regions.

When he had the idea perfected he worked out an arrangement with a tire company to print the guides. There was no advertising by hotels, cafes or other places mentioned in the guides; they did not see the folders until after they had been printed.

House Votes Raise For U. S. Workers

WASHINGTON, June 20 (P)—The House voted overwhelmingly today to raise the pay of more than a million classified government workers 7½ per cent. The Senate has passed a 10 per cent boost.

The bill now goes to a Senate-House Conference Committee to compromise the difference. Many House members said they expect the final figure to be 8 per cent.

There was no direct indication of how big a pay hike President Eisenhower would approve, although both figures were higher than the 5 per cent he recommended. In today's brief debate, Rep. St. George (R-NY) said a 7½ per cent bill would be signed into law.

Three Vote No

The House vote on the pay raise was 370-3, with three Republicans against it—Reps. Taber of New York and Mason and Vursell of Illinois.

The measure would apply to 983,057 Civil Service workers and some 90,000 employees of Congress and the judicial branch of government, the Department of Medicine and Surgery, the foreign service and agencies whose pay is fixed by administrative action.

The new pay figure would be retroactive to March 1. As voted by the House, the increase would cost an estimated $25 million dollars a year. It would round out a series of pay boosts for most federal employees voted by Congress this year.

Nine Reds Jailed In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 (P)—Nine, Philadelphia area Communists were jailed today for conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

U. S. District Court Judge J. Cullen Ganev turned aside impassioned pleas of three of the defendants as a "torrent of words" and meted out these sentences: Four were given 3½-year prison terms, the other five 2 years. The maximum sentence was 5 years and a $10,000 fine.

All had been convicted last year of violating the federal Smith Act. Ganev ordered the nine jailed immediately, rejecting the plea of defense attorneys that the men be freed in bail pending appeal of the conviction to a higher court.

Rule Trial Fair

Ganev, who had refused to grant a new trial for the defendants last week, said all had been tried fairly.

Sentenced to 3 years were Joseph Kuzma, 32; David Dubensky, 46, also known as Dave Davis; Thomas Nabried, 51, all of Philadelphia, and Sam Robeloff, 44, also known as Joseph Roberts, Camden, N. J.

Two-year terms were given to Sherman M. Labovitz, 29; Walter Lowenfels, 56; Irving Katz, 35; Robert Klonsky, 35, and Benjamin Weiss, 39, all Philadelphia.

Davis, Nabried and Lowenfels made separate statements to the court before sentencing.

Ike Pledges Efforts For Lasting Peace

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20 (P)—The Big Four foreign ministers met tonight in a brownstone mansion high atop Nob Hill to discuss plans for the "summit" meeting of the chiefs of state in Geneva next month.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was the first to arrive for the meeting at which arrangements will be completed for the top-level Big Four session.

Next to arrive was Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, followed by British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and Antoine Pinay, French foreign minister.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20 (P)—President Eisenhower solemnly promised the United Nations today that at the Big Four conference next month he will work toward lasting peace — "a glorious way of life," free of threats of atomic holocaust.

Opening the U. N. 10th anniversary ceremonies in the golden glitter of the San Francisco Opera House, birthplace of the United Nations, the President also urged the member countries to join in striving anew for such a way of life.

In it, he said, "the atom, dedicated once as man's slayer, will become his most productive servant."

Season of High Hope

Looking ahead to the July 18 meeting of the Big Four chiefs of state in Geneva, Eisenhower foresaw it taking place in "a season of high hope for the world."

But in his address at the Opera House today he again declined to make any flat prediction whether Russia will join in a start toward "dismantling the terrible apparatus" of war.

Behind the President, seated among veteran participants of the U. N. organization here 10 years ago, sat Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, grim and unsmiling under the glare of the flood lights.

The United States, Eisenhower promised, "will leave no stone unturned to work for peace."

Choose Own Rules

He added: "We shall reject no method, however novel, that holds out any hope, however faint, for a just and lasting peace."

The President dealt with matters which could come up in Western discussions with Russia at the Big Four meeting, but he did not mention them in that connection. He said:

1. That (quite likely with the Soviet mind) the people of every nation have "the inherent right" to choose the kind of government under which they want to live, and "the right to select in full freedom the individuals who conduct that government."

He drew moderate applause at this remark, but Molotov sat impassive.

Molotov was not wearing translation headphones, so it was not known whether he understood what the President had said.

2. He said that the United States and, he believes, a majority of all nations, are united in the hope "that every government will abstain from itself attempting, or aiding others to attempt, the subversion, coercion, infiltration or destruction of other governments . . ."

Bullets Spray Passing Cars; Trucker Held

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 20 (P)—A Colorado truck driver sprayed passing automobiles with pistol fire last night, police reported. Two motorists were hit by bullets and three others were cut by flying glass.

Constable Clarence Savage arrested William Jackson, 39, of Denver at gunpoint in a panel truck parked along U. S. Route 40 near Uniontown.

Beside Jackson sat a startled hitchhiker companion, Samuel P. Johnson, 39, of Houston, Tex., who said he was told: "You just stay put." Johnson also was arrested.

A warning against highway carelessness was printed on the side of the truck and Jackson told police he was on his way to the Justice Department in Washington to complain about lights "brighter than the sun."

Army Signal Corps 95 Years Old Today But It's Business As Usual At Tobyhanna

IT'S BUSINESS as usual today at the huge $35,000,000 Signal Depot at Tobyhanna.

For today the U. S. Army Signal Corps is observing its 95th birthday, but there will be no special observance. The depot was opened to the public on Armed Forces Day, May 21, when some 8,500 area residents toured the modern Signal Corps installation.

At that time the general public got to see the inside picture of what the modern Signal Corps installation looks like and what it does.

The depot's mission as a branch depot is the responsibility for the supply and maintenance (5th Echelon Repair—repair to the extent that equipment is equal to new) of Signal Corps equipment. There are four such depots in the United States, located in Lexington, Ky.; Decatur, Ill.; Sacramento, Cal.; and Tobyhanna. Each of these depots has a responsibility for supplying signal equipment to Army organizations within the continental United States and overseas units.

Centrally Located

The depot located at Tobyhanna, the center of the Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Stroudsburg area, occupies 500 of the 1,400 acres furnished to the Federal Government by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Located along the main line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad and the heavily traveled motor Route 611, the depot is only three hours traveling distance from the Metropolitan cities of New York and Philadelphia.

To carry out one of the principal missions of the depot, there are seven large warehouses, 200 by 1,200 feet for the receipt and storage of a great variety of communication equipment for use by the Armed Forces. A large operations building provides facilities for the rebuild, modification, and tropicalization of electronic equipment as well as receiving, packing and shipping activities.

There are other service units that make the depot a self-contained installation. Among these are the Box Shop, Motor Pool, Ordnance Shop, Inflammable Storage Building, Refrigerated Storage Building, Cable Processing Building, and Salvage Building. Facilities ties also provided for a complete water supply and distribution system, central heating plant, sewerage disposal plant, incinerator plant, and a complete telephone system. A well trained firefighting and guard force provide the protection and security at this large installation.

The Administration Building serves as the nerve center of the depot and within this building is located the office of the commanding officer and his staff, the Personnel Office, Dispensary, Stock Control Division, Comptroller's Office and other important administrative offices. A large and modern cafeteria accommodates the employees who are within access of this building.

The depot with a personnel strength of some 2,400 employees generates a payroll of some $10,000,000 a year. This huge payroll with an additional two or three million dollars expended on public utilities such as electricity, telephone service, coal and oil, and local procurement, has been a welcome addition to this area.

The Signal Corps was first established as a separate branch of the Army, June 21, 1860. The first chief signal officer was Brig. Gen. Albert J. Myer, who had developed the first "wig-wag," a system of flag, wand, or torch signaling between line-of-sight points.

The Signal Corps really came into being in 1898, during the Spanish-American War, and expanded to 1300 officers and men. It did an excellent job in establishing and maintaining communication by cable between Puerto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines.

Importance In War

From the end of the Spanish-American War to the advent of World War I, the advancement of science in all fields also felt the impact of the Signal Corps in the field of communications. The Signal Corps maintained communications during World War I on all battlefronts and cross-roads of France with 100,000 miles of wire, 2,000 miles of pole line, 40,000 miles of combat lines, operated 282 telephone exchanges and 133 complete telegraph stations. Radio as a means of communication was used for the first time on a limited basis, but it did forecast the possibilities of such communication in the future.

World War II was a real challenge to the Signal Corps. The pulse beat of the entire world was known in Washington through the establishment of a global network of communications. Radio came into its own with mobile equipment of sending and receiving messages and walkie-talkies. The marvel of the age was the development of radar which helped to equalize our defense strategy in this new era of aerial warfare. The annals of this entire conflict was written with the blood of the Signal Corps which made many sacrifices for the successful end of the war.

The nature of the terrain in the Korean conflict proved the versatility of the Signal Corps. The first Army personnel sent into that conflict were Signal Corpsmen; the first casualties suffered were members of the Signal Corps. Despite the lack of a communications system to build on, or roads for supply, atmospheric and terrain conditions that almost precluded adequate communications, shortage of equipment and personnel, and constantly changing battle conditions, the Signal Corps established and maintained a communications system from front to rear and across the front and rear.

This was a key factor in the defense of Korea, permitting the UN to make full use of its superior mobility, firepower, and tactical concepts.

The Signal Corps is constantly conducting research in the electronics field. In the field of endeavor, personnel of the Corps receive the latest training in electronics in order to make the technical services the best in the world. Signal Corps training schools are maintained at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and Camp Gordon, Ga. The officers' Candidate School and the Signal Supply School is at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Subjects vary from basic courses in wire and radio to electronic warfare, covering every phase of the communications, electronics, and photographic fields. In addition, selected officers are sent to civilian colleges and universities for graduate work in technical fields. Signal Corps ROTC units are of great importance, since the Signal Corps gets a large percentage of its officers from that source.

Neola Native Has Visited Many Cities

The guides "sold very well" for a couple of decades. Hobbs' name gradually became associated with the distribution of information to tourists until, when the fire company withdrew as sponsor a few years ago, Rand McNally immediately offered to publish a "Hobbs Tourist Guide" in pocket form.

One of the big reasons Hobbs had felt the need for a "no strings attached" guide to touring in all parts of the country, he says, is that "I felt that so many tourists weren't getting their money out of their travel dollar. At that time touring was new and misleading advertising was rampant all over the country."

Later on, when Hobbs retired from business to spend all his time visiting his favorite U. S. spots, he had the time to think over some of the highlights in his career of organized wandering. Never believing that his hobby was "just a king-sized wanderlust," Hobbs began to see an aim and purpose in all the traveling he had done: he had learned as much as he could about America instead of sitting back and "wishing" he could do it and he had liked most of what he had seen.

Natural Wonders

Asked to pick out a couple of lists for would-be wanderers, Hobbs came up with this selection of the "five greatest natural wonders in America."

First on the list would be Yosemite National Park—"because of the giant Sequoia trees and the fact that General Grant Park and Sequoia National Park are adjacent to it."

Second is Yellowstone National Park—"The finest thing about it is its geysers, of course, and the majestic, eye-sweeping beauty of Grand Teton Park next to it where soaring cliffs and peaks rise up abruptly from the barren levelness of Jackson Hole."

The remaining three on the "top five" list are Grand Canyon, Carlsbad Cavern and the Mesa Verde National Park, where the ancient cliff dwellings lie still intact after centuries of emptiness.

There are two other spots, Hobbs notes, which are "way off the beaten track" and are seldom seen by Americans on tour. These are the Chiricahua National Monument on the Arizona-New Mexico border.

"There's nothing there commercialized, nothing but the great beauty of the monument and a ranger station," and a "stretch of highway that no one travels in Louisiana."

The highway is Route 168 out of Baton Rouge. It runs southeastward to Donaldsonville, then, as Route 29, goes through Thibodaux and Raceland and all the way down to the tip of Louisiana, Grand Isle.

There is little or no modernization along the strip, Hobbs recalls. All the persons living there "are Cajun—they speak French, they trap muskrats and the towns are totally foreign in appearance." The road measures a scant 16 feet—smaller in some spots—but "it's the most interesting road in America," Hobbs says.

Now that he has "retired," at 72, Hobbs has an idea that the first thing most vacationers or tourists should think of is actually the last to occur to them when they plan a trip.

"There is nothing more important than being in the right place at the right time," he says. "No one spot in the country is at its best all year around."

Taking it for granted that someone in Stroudsburg has the time, the patience and—oh, yes—the money, to make a country-wide tour, Hobbs was asked to set up an agenda for travel.

Poconos In Summer

"Well, you should spend your summer right here in the Poconos," he said. "Make a few side trips to New York in the summertime. It's the most distinctive and interesting city in the nation—in summer—because that's when the people themselves are in the city for the most part. You have a chance to see them, in the most polyglot city we have, when they're out of their houses, on the fire escapes and in the streets."

"Starting from Stroudsburg in late summer, you can make it to New England and the Green Mountains for early autumn. From there tour the northern border of the country, through the Lake Duluth region, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon. Take the Redwood Highway down the California coast—keeping as close to the coastline as possible. Spend the months from mid-November to March in Southern California; then leave before the fog and rain season begins."

In March and April the trip should take you through Arizona,

San Antonio, New Orleans and into Florida by April 1—the week the winter rates drop down to reason. From Florida the trip should take you through the Appalachians, the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Poconos. By June, you'd be back in Stroudsburg again, Hobbs says.

No-Accident Formula

Travel information may be important, the veteran tourist insists, but "if I had one thing to say to every person who takes a tour, this would be it:

"I have traveled more than a million miles and have never had an accident. Once, I was asked to tell someone my creed for driving. This is the way I figure it, now."

"To avoid accidents, first you must resolve to follow every traffic and courtesy regulation of the road. Drive all the time as though a traffic cop were right behind you with a bunch of tickets in his hand. Train yourself so that your sub-conscious mind drives safely for you. If you never break a rule—stop at all the right places at the right times, even when no one is in sight, you can pass the buck to your sub-conscious mind. If you do this, you have your own traffic officer riding with you all the time."

World Better Off Because Of Victories Won By U.N.

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

There is an illogical tendency to criticize the United Nations because, established to maintain peace, it has not made peace.

When the nations met at San Francisco 10 years ago to form a postwar organization, the Japanese were still fighting, nobody knew what would be found beneath the ruptured Nazi crust of Germany, and Russia was an ally of Britain, France and the United States.

Peace was to come through unity of the great powers. The cold war was in the already-written Russian books, but the West had not read them.

Dream Dies

Once the peace was made by the great powers, the U. N. was to have a police force to see that it was kept. That was a dream which died aborning.

Nevertheless, the U. N. has on several occasions exerted great influence for peace. Its earliest triumph was to focus public opinion on Russia's efforts to continue her occupation of Iran after the war, causing her withdrawal from a position which contained an immediate threat of war.

The reports of U. N. teams likewise had their influence on Russia's abandonment of her objectives in Greece, and U. N. mediators ultimately produced an armistice, even though a shaky one, in Palestine.

The most momentous U. N. deed, of course, was the demonstration that free nations will not stand idly by while one of their number is conquered. For the first time in history an important number of nations—15—pooled their arms to defend a nation, South Korea, in which none of them had any great selfish interest.

None Have Withdrawn

Yet perhaps the most important thing the U. N. has done is merely to exist amid all the pressures which might have torn it down. Not one single nation has shown any sign of withdrawal, although some of them, such as Russia and South Africa, have been sorely vexed by expressions of international opinion through the forum.

The U. N. stands as a symbol of something for which man is searching. It gives him a target for his dreams. It is the burning glass which focuses the heat of his desires, providing a fire by which he may warm himself during the cold night of search. It gives him a sense of unity against terror. If he did not have it, he would have to have something else like it.

As the President says, without the United Nations the points where it has failed would still have been written down in history as failures; and victories have been achieved which could not have been won without it.

Senate Passes State Government Reorganization Measure

GOP Favors Appointments By Governor

HARRISBURG, June 20 (AP)—Gov. Leader tonight won one of his major objectives—legislative approval of a plan to create a 12-man government reorganization commission.

The measure, tailored by the Republican-controlled Senate to require Leader to make all of the appointments, passed the Senate without a word of debate. The vote was 49-0.

Rep. Albert S. Readinger, House Democratic leader, said the lower branch will concur tomorrow in Senate amendments, putting the bill on Leader's desk by the end of the week.

As it now stands, the governor would name 12 citizens to make a study by Dec. 31, 1956 on possible governmental reforms in the Commonwealth. The measure was originally introduced to give the governor the right to appoint four members, the speaker of the House, four, and the Senate president pro tempore, four.

Reasons Explained

"It's the governor's commission and we want no part of it as far as membership is concerned," said Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader in explaining the reasons for his party's revisions. But other Republicans said privately that the Senate GOP disapproved its appointing powers so that it can be in the position of challenging the reform recommendations.

The House also must concur in an amendment which removes the $40 a day salary which would have been paid commission members. They will receive expenses.

In another development, the Senate knocked out a proposal to refund 75 per cent of truck overloading fines to the Commonwealth.

The change, originally made in the Senate Highways Committee, restores the present method of permitting municipalities to retain all of the fines.

Senate Vote Today

The action was part of the legislation to increase the weight limits for commonly used trucks in Pennsylvania from 45,000 pounds to 60,000 pounds.

The House-approved bill which also sharply boosts overloading penalties and license fees, is in a position for a final Senate vote tomorrow.

Overturn of Gov. Leader's 411 million dollar classified income tax proposal were heard in the Senate passage, by a straight party vote, of a GOP plan to exempt non-residents from Philadelphia 1½ per cent wage tax.

Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware) argued that it was unfair for such a tax to be levied on persons who had no opportunity to choose the levying authorities.

But Sen. Charles R. Weiner (D-Phila) took the position that non-residents who pay the tax enjoy fire and police protection in Philadelphia during their working hours.

Meanwhile, the governor lashed back at Sen. James H. Duff in a new exchange on the income tax. Duff, who described Leader's tax plan as a "vicious dragnet," was assailed by the governor as one with "no equal as a free wheeling, uninhibited spender of the state's sustenance."

"As one who helped to break the bank in Pennsylvania, Sen. Duff's portentous wisdom on taxes is suffocating," Leader said.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, said Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh probably meant "only a week" when the mayor asked for a delay in a House vote on the income tax program.

"The mayor may have thought it was coming up today instead of next Monday," Dent said.

In the House, Rep. Daniel A. Vernona (D-Allegheny), one of the outspoken opponents of the income tax, took to the floor to challenge Speaker H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria) to read him out of the party.

Without mentioning Andrews by name, he said: "I came in as a Democrat and I'll leave a Democrat."

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House assistant GOP leader, said Pennsylvania may lose federal highway aid for what he termed a failure of the state to develop a road program this year.

Metropolitan Edison Co. To Build Huge Power Plant Along River Near Portland

ONE OF THE largest electric power plants in the East will be built south of Portland by Metropolitan Edison Co., it was announced yesterday.

Company President O. Titus said construction will start in the fall on the multi-million-dollar plant, with the start of operations scheduled for April 1, 1958.

It will be built on a 132-acre tract at Sandy Shore along the Delaware River. Titus said the plant will be large enough to meet electric power needs of Northern Delaware Valley industry far into the future.

Ultimate capacity of the plant will exceed one million kilowatts and the first steam generator will develop more than 165,000 kilowatts, the company said.

Exceed Present Consumption
Production by the first unit will amount to twice as much as the present consumption of electricity in the entire Eason-Bangor-Nazareth-Stroudsburg section served by ME.

The new plant will "induce" the continued growth of the area along the river northward to New York State, the firm said, because power will be available on both sides of the river.

According to ME, the first unit alone will cost 25 million dollars. In all, the company plans to build at least eight units in successive steps. It was pointed out that the plant site is "ideal" because it is easily accessible to the main ingredients in making of electricity: coal and water.

A branch of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad passes the site on the west and the river is on the east. A special railroad spur will be built, along with coal unloading and storage facilities.

80,000 Gallons Per Minute
The plant will require 80,000 gallons of water a minute for the first unit. The water will be condensed into steam, which will power a turbine before it is reconverted to water, chlorinated and returned to the river "cleaner and purer," ME said.

An electrical switching yard will be built west of the plant for transformation of the power produced there to 115,000 volts for dispatch into the firm's transmission network. New lines will be built through Portland to North Bangor.

A new substation will be built at North Bangor for power distribution to Belfast, Easton and vicinity and northward to Stroudsburg and the Poconos. Connection will be made at Hartzel's Ferry with lines of the New Jersey Power & Light Co. serving Belvidere, Phillipsburg, and the Wharton-Dover areas.

The first boiler will be built by Combustion Engineering Inc. It will produce 1,300,000 pounds of steam an hour at 2,400 pounds per square inch pressure. At capacity operation, 1,320 tons of coal per day will be consumed. The "Sulzer Type" boiler has been widely used in Europe but is new in the U. S., the company stated. It is distinguished for its conversion of water directly into steam without the use of a separating or storage drum.

Heated To 1050 Degrees
Steam heated to 1050 degrees in the boiler will flow to the turbine where it will turn the blades at 36,000 revolutions per minute, then will discharge into a low pressure turbine revolving at 1800 revolutions per minute.

Two Injured In Collision During Rain

A WOMAN and child were injured in a two-car crash at the Bartonville intersection Sunday at about 11:30 p.m.

The crash caused an estimated $800 damage to the two cars, Stroudsburg State police said. Injured were Mrs. Lois Barhight, 36, and Danna Miller, 12, both of Factoryville.

Authorities at General Hospital dispensary where the two were treated said Mrs. Barhight suffered a sprained left ankle and right arm bruises and the girl suffered a severe lip cut.

State police said the accident occurred at the intersection of Routes 611 and 12 at Bartonville when a car driven by Henry Learn 44, of Stroudsburg RD3, stopped to let another car pass before making a left turn onto Route 12.

The second car—in which the injured were passengers—crashed into the rear of Learn's car, police said. Driver of the second car was Stanley Douglas, Dalton RD 2. It was raining at the time of the accident, police reported.

A national representative will come here for the course, open only to those who have already been awarded their senior life-saving certificates. At least five must be enrolled before an instructors course can be scheduled.

World's only gas with OCTANE BONUS!

No octane wasted fighting lead deposits

Some refiners have found that the cheapest and easiest way to increase octane rating is by adding lead. But lead in an automobile engine can leave harmful deposits. And lead deposits waste power, cut down usable octane on the road where it counts. That calls for higher octane at the pump. And still more lead. Except in the case of the new Amoco-Gas!

A great new Amoco-Gas with an Octane BONUS

It's a white, unleaded gas, made by the patented Ultraforming Process—with such natural high octane that it doesn't need lead!

Every bit of octane-energy in the new Amoco-Gas is used to run your car. Because every drop can burn. No lead deposits form to waste octane—it all reaches the road. The result is an exclusive Octane Bonus that no gas containing lead can match.

REMEMBER THIS! No matter how much octane you pay for at the pump, the only octane you get is the usable octane that reaches the road! With unleaded Amoco-Gas, that's bonus octane... worth trying, worth buying! Come in—try something wonderful!

STANDARD ONE-CYLINDER LABORATORY TEST ENGINE

This universal "Octane Rating" engine accurately determines the octane rating of every gas—in the laboratory. It does not measure the harmful effects of lead deposits in an automobile engine.

It tells only half of octane story

THE REAL TEST ENGINE IS IN YOUR CAR ON THE ROAD!

You can only measure the usable octane value of any gas in an automobile engine in use. Here leaded gas can cause metallic deposits that waste octane. All the octane value of new no-lead Amoco-Gas is usable road octane—none is wasted. You get an Octane Bonus on the road.

There Is No Evidence Showing Each Community Cannot Handle Vaccine Job

We now have about as many ideas of how the polio vaccine program should be handled, and paid for, as it would be possible to have.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress for 35 million dollars to buy inoculations for children whose parents presumably cannot pay.

Sen. Lister Hill, Alabama Democrat, proposes an appropriation of 135 million dollars to provide free vaccine for all children, through 19.

The American Medical Assn. is opposed to the Hill plan and lukewarm about the Eisenhower proposal.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Polio Foundation, said his organization would distribute government-given vaccine if requested but preferred not to get any help from the public treasury.

Mr. Eisenhower has said, over and over, the Government should not attempt to do for the people what the people can do for themselves. There is no evidence, so far, that each community cannot handle its own problems in seeing that all children are inoculated.

Some states and communities already are organized.

All that is needed is some intelligent leadership. That most fittingly could come from the Medical Association and the Polio Foundation, if they would forget insignificant differences and get together—with whatever assistance may be necessary from public health agencies.

What would be wrong with an extra "March of Dimes" in each community, to pay for the polio shots? If the debt-ridden Government buys and distributes the vaccine, the people will pay for it, just the same—plus interest charges of indefinite duration (because the Government would have to borrow the money) plus handling charges.

"I just believe others can do it better," the President said, early in the game.

That is, of course, if they will do it.

Maybe We Should Be Satisfied With Civil Defense Tests, But Not Too Smug

Reading the many columns written in state newspapers about the reported success of Wednesday's civil defense tests, we find ourselves wondering just how successful they really were.

Obviously the streets of our major communities and many of the smaller ones were cleared of pedestrians in a commendably brief time, but that was to be expected after the advance warnings of the tests had been so fully publicized.

What would the result have been had the sirens sounded with absolutely NO warning? We can well imagine the confusion, having noted the apathy of the general public to defense planning, although it must be admitted the general idea of taking cover is beginning to permeate the public consciousness.

However, what else was accomplished during the Wednesday dress rehearsal for a bombing we prayerfully hope will never come?

What evacuation plans were developed and set in motion after the mythical attack?

What vehicles such as wreck-trucks with disciplined personnel were dispatched to points where traffic chaos might well be expected because of hysterical, fear-maddened drivers and, even worse, Fifth Columnist activity?

What substitute communication facilities were established, assuming the destruction of telephone and telegraph circuits, radio and TV transmitters, and police radio aids?

What well-developed plan of traffic control, with the personnel to enforce such control, was activated?

These questions persistently recur as we ponder the Wednesday tests and consider the future of such trial runs. Maybe we should be satisfied with the progress made, however slight. But we cannot, in all conscience, say that we are.

George Sokolsky Says...

Zhukov Does Not Glorify Any Friendship With Eisenhower In Reports On War Trend

Quite a little fuss has been made over the "military" friendship of President Eisenhower and Marshal of the Soviet Union G. Zhukov. They have carried in their hearts, if not in political orientation, the memories of comrades who drank to the downfall of the enemy.

So I have been reading an article on the Soviet role in World War II by the aforesaid Marshal Zhukov, as of May 8, 1955, in which he gives General Eisenhower no credit, but takes it all for himself and his country. He said:

"The Soviet Army firmly grasped the initiative. The attempts of the Hitlerite command in a number of battles to pluck this initiative from our hands foundered. The Soviet Army, thanks to the constant solidarity of our Party, of the Soviet Government, and of the whole Soviet people, overcame its enemy in all respects during all subsequent stages of the war. It was well armed for the struggle on land and in the air."

So, we, the United States, did nothing. We fought on every front; we supplied every Allied army; we gave the Russians $11,000,000,000, as a free will offering—but we did nothing, according to Zhukov.

With political skill, rather than soldierly honesty, Marshal Zhukov refers to the period of the Hitler-Stalin Alliance as "the complicated and difficult situation." It was the period when Hitler was able to walk through France; it was the period when Great Britain stood alone for a year, taking a beating in a state of siege. But to Zhukov it is only a "complicated and difficult situation."

Of the Second World War, Zhukov says:

"The Second World War, prepared by the forces of international imperialism reaction, was unleashed by the block of fascist States: Germany, Japan, and Italy. The ruling circles of the United States, Britain, and France, striving to direct the aggression of German fascism and Japanese imperialism against the USSR, connived by all means with the aggressors, but they miscalculated seriously."

This is an amazing interpretation of history. It was Russia that was in alliance with Nazi Germany. Surely the United States was not in alliance with Nazi Germany, nor was Great Britain or France. It was Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany that concluded the Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact to divide the world imperialistically. Surely, it was not the United States that had any such "pacts." What kind of a man is this general who tells such tales? Is he utterly ignorant of the history of his own country and his own times or is he merely a stuffed and belated robot striding an article prepared by propagandists? And is this the "friend" upon whom we are to depend?

Marshal Zhukov's explanation of what has happened since 1945 is naive or brazen, as you choose.

but it is obviously not the truth. This is what he said:

"The ruling circles of the United States and Britain, fearing that other Nations of the capitalist world would follow the example of the peoples of those countries, took an open course for the liquidation of democratic freedoms in all States which remained within the orbit of their influence."

"At the same time, they started preparing for a new war against the USSR and the People's Democracies having trodden underfoot the obligations undertaken during the period of struggle against the common enemy. Such a policy of the U. S. and British imperialism circles led the world to a state of international tension, and there appeared the threat of a new world war."

The only value there can be in reproducing this stuff is to make it clear that the man is not a friend of the United States. For some reason, not quite clear, after Khrushchev seized power in Soviet Russia, Zhukov got a terrific build-up in this country. There was an exchange of correspondence between him and the President; much was made of their personal friendship; war-time stories were retailed. He is supposed to be the very strong man in Soviet Russia but Nikita Khrushchev showed that he is the Boss and no one else.

In a long article in "Pravda," entitled "The 10th Anniversary of the Great Victory," Zhukov does not glorify friendship but minimizes the role of the United States in the most costly war in our history in which Russia was supposed to be our ally.

U.S. Didn't Come Out So Good On Tito-Red Powwow

I don't want to appear to be going upstream on a one-way street but after mulling the thing over I want to record a small minority opinion.

I don't think we came out so good on that powwow between Communist Tito and the Communist pooh-bahs from Moscow.

Oh, sure, Tito apparently played hard-to-get, all right, and there wasn't much in the large print to indicate that the Russians succeeded in taking him into camp. On the contrary, all reports give the impression that he maintained his independent dignity and gave his visitors the polite brush-off.

They didn't exactly go home with their tails between their legs, but if they were carrying any bacon it wasn't in plain sight.

So throughout the anxious audience in the Free World there ran a round of enthusiastic applause. Good old Tito! He showed them he was somebody to be reckoned with and that they couldn't push him around or hoodwink him with synthetic camaraderie.

So where are we now?

I have a strong impression that Tito is the type of character who loves to read his own press notices and could easily get to taking them too seriously. Nobody would be any happier to recognize Tito as a Big Man in the world than Tito. He already has a good head-start in that direction.

Are we gaining anything when we take the Moscow dictators down a peg or two and at the same time boost some other two-bit dictator up a peg or two?

This, if you ask me, is one of the poorer times to be sprinkling fertilizer around the roots of any potential Strong Man.

It may not be long before the do-it-yourself books are out on A-bombs and H-bombs. It will be only a little longer than that before any bush-league Hitler can assemble a few in his own basement.

That will be the time to look out. There is one thing to be said for the Russian dictators. They should have had time to get it through their heads that those big bombs can do. It should follow, then, that they are less itchy than they once may have been to start tossing the things around.

The possession of an H-bomb of his very own would have a headier effect on a fellow like Tito. Until his sobering implications had time to take hold he might be most impressed by the thought that, at long last, he could be just as tough as anybody. Let the Big Boys rub him the wrong way and he could show them what was what.

So I say it's no cause for rejoicing when something happens that could puff a fellow like Tito up to the point where he bruises easily. In an atomic age prima donnas are dangerous.

Try and Stop Me

The doctor at a summer resort gave a tourist a hasty checkup and said, "Give up red meats and raw fruits. They're awful for you." Next day the tourist felt worse and rushed to the same doctor who didn't recognize him. This time the doc advised, "What you need is more red meat and raw fruits."

"But, doctor," protested the tourist, "you told me just the opposite yesterday."

"So what?" said the medic. "You'd be amazed how science has progressed in the past twenty-four hours!"

Robert S. Allen Reports

U.S. To Stand Firm On Protection Of Formosa

Washington, June 21 — Secretary Dulles is making one thing firmly clear in his exploratory talks with Foreign Minister Molotov.

No chances are being taken in the explosive Formosa area.

The U. S. is willing to discuss a cease-fire, but at the same time is vigorously preparing to resist Red China's long-threatened offensive.

There has been no let-up in extending every effort to the Nationalists to continue strengthening the defenses of Formosa, Quemoy, Matsu and the other embattled coastal islands. They are now more heavily fortified than ever before.

Whether it is peace or war is wholly up to the Communists.

Dulles has told Molotov the U. S. wants to negotiate the inflamed Formosa issue, but will fight any attempt to seize the Nationalist strongholds by armed force.

Prior to conferring with Molotov, Dulles explained this basic policy to British and French Foreign Ministers Macmillan and Pinay. Senator Walter George (D., Ga.), powerful chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and leaders of the House Foreign Affairs Committee were similarly informed.

It was outlined to the latter by Admiral Arthur Radford, who is working closely with Dulles.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff indicated that the guiding strategy is to keep pressure on the Reds in the Far East while holding the door open for a possible agreement with them.

Radford expressed confident belief this strategy will not lead to war. However he added, in response to questions, that the Reds are continuing to build up their air forces in the Formosa area, and "Russia has a huge military aid program in Red China."

"Not if the Communists make an all-out attack," replied Radford.

"How much aid have we supplied the Nationalists?" asked Representative Clemen Zablocki (D., Wis.).

"The total up to January 1 of this year was $2,600,000,000," said Radford.

"Are we sending military supplies to Matsu and Quemoy?" asked Representative James Richards (D., S. C.), Committee chairman.

"We are not, but the Nationalists are," explained Radford. "We are providing the Nationalists with military assistance on Formosa, and they send supplies to Quemoy and Matsu. They are being strengthened steadily in every way."

Concerning Peiping's frequent threats about taking Formosa, Radford made the following comments:

"The Communists are now talking about taking these Nationalist islands by peaceful means. But it is significant that their emphasis is still on taking them. . . . The Communists continue to give every indication of being determined to maintain excessive military forces and thereby to continue existing tensions. I see no real sign so far of a fundamental desire on their part to come to any solution that would materially change this picture. We have no other alternative but to remain strong militarily."

"If economic and other factors run strongly against the Communists throughout the world," asked Representative A. S. J. Carnahan (D., Mo.), "are they likely to resort to wars as a last recourse?"

"That has frequently been the history of dictatorships," said Radford grimly.

Note: The Joint Chiefs of Staff have been assigned special intelligence functions by the National Security Council. This was disclosed by J. R. Loftis, assistant to Defense Secretary Wilson, in asking Congress for an additional $250,000 for this and related purposes.

Convenient Lapse — Senators Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) and Homer Capehart (R., Ind.), long-time "friendly" opponents, were arguing vigorously about the relative merits of their parties' housing programs.

Thundered Douglas, one-time university professor, "Is not the reason for the slowing up of the housing program last year the fact that our friends on the other aisle had control of the Committee on Appropriations?"

Now the distinguished Senator from Indiana is proposing to again place this vital program in the iron vest in which it was confined a year ago.

"I wish to say to my good friend," replied Capehart genially, "that my memory on that point is not very good."

Both Senators laughed, and that ended the argument.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

As the reports from 4-H Club activities, Boy and Girl Scout trips, Scout and YMCA Day camps, Little Leagues, and playground schedules begin to come in, I can't help thinking how singularly fortunate our youngsters are.

They have, for the asking, experiences and facilities that only the children of the very wealthy have in the cities. Even without the organizations, our children have within walking distance all the things that city children have to be taken on a vacation to reach.

Whether they appreciate it or not is another matter. And still another is whether the program is reaching all the children it might, the ones who don't know that it's there for the asking, or who don't realize that it's intended for them, too.

Instructions in cooking, sewing, carpentry, lessons in basket-weaving, swimming, sports, games and sponsored trips either and you. Seems as if there's nothing we've forgotten.

Except how to keep children from coming in whining "What can I do now?"

One thing about working at Wyckoff's—you never know when you report at 9 a.m. just what you'll be doing before 5:30. You may be mixing your regular job with a bit of ad writing . . . or song writing . . . or you may be whipping up a monologue for Pete Wyckoff to present at a store jubilee meeting. One thing is certain, you may go home weary—but by George, you won't go home bored . . . I suppose that you can consider yourself officially a housekeeper, when you look at your four months-old set of breakfast dishes and find a chipped cup, one broken saucer, and a cracked soup plate. Don't know how these minor catastrophes occurred, but wasn't it fortunate that I selected Ballerina ware in the butternut pattern, and that it's both inexpensive and open stock? Frankly, I'm always a little glad that everyday dishes don't last forever—it's fun to be forced into buying something new now and then. One can get rightfully tired of seeing the same cereals in the same dishes every morning through the years—don't you agree? . . . Edna Brockman's desk was well laden with flowers and gifts on Saturday, preliminary to the June birthday. The bouquet was from husband George, of course—and I'm almost certain that one of those packages contained 20 Carat perfume. It's one of Edna's favorites as all her friends well know . . . I imagine Florence Fredmore is pleased that the new Pocono Mountains magazine is on the stand, for she sold me last week that dozens of customers were requesting it. Mrs. Robert Miller, the publisher and editor, deserves a great deal of credit for going ahead with an idea that must have occurred to hundreds of people through the years. I am proud to be one of her contributing editors, and proud too that Wyckoff's is right in there helping the project along with a big picture and ad on the back cover . . . Don't know whether they have any more of those little brass hour glasses in our gift department, but they surely were cute—just the thing for timing soft boiled eggs and long distance telephone calls—and priced at a dollar or less! . . . Three's nothing like a child to hand down a sage opinion. Says my son, "Mommie, don't you look awfully young for forty?" Says my daughter, "Oh, I don't know, Timmy—maybe she just looked awfully old for thirty-nine." Which leaves me sort of dangling—but in any case, young or old, I find our beauty salon can work wonders with one's complexion, just by making one feel well groomed. Hottie manicures and hairdos are wonderful on occasion. But it takes a professional job to really put one in the party mood—isn't that right? . . . Another big lifter-process for tired bodies and weary spirits is Sardo—the wonderful bath oil we've mentioned on several previous occasions in this column. "How do you like it?" Pearl Walter asked the other day. "Love it," I said. "So do dozens of other people—we sell it by the carload," she admitted. Which just goes to show that YOU should be enjoying it too, if you are not using it at the moment . . . Edna B. just came in to say a message from Philadelphia reports that our carrier pigeon arrived there around 3 p.m. He was released here around 3. Now the question is—did he sail right along or stop to visit once in awhile. There are divided opinions.

THE GRADUAL BREAKDOWN of Blanche DuBois' slender hold on reality forms the core of Tennessee Williams' play "A Streetcar Named Desire". The two major roles in the Bushkill Playhouse production of "Streetcar" are to be played by Robert Owens as "Stanley Kowalski" and Ann Dolan as "Blanche". Production opens Tuesday night, June 28; runs through Saturday, July 2.

Newsboy Cast In Lead Role Of 'Streetcar' At Bushkill Starting Next Tuesday Night

AN 18-YEAR-OLD Pittsburgh corner newsdealer is featured in the Bushkill Playhouse opening production "A Streetcar Named Desire". Robert Owens will be portraying the part of Stanley Kowalski, the crude, muscle-proud mechanic, created on the stage and screen by Marlon Brando.

Owens, who operates a newsstand—in his family for more than 20 years—at a busy intersection in downtown Pittsburgh, is a physical culture disciple. He was runner-up in the "Mr. Pittsburgh" contest this year, and also competed in the "Mr. America" contest. This is understandable when Bob explains that his spare time is spent swimming, body building, weight-lifting, wrestling and motorcycling.

Up until this time, Bob's only acting has been limited to posing and lifting weights. He decided he wanted to become an actor, so he turned up one day at the International Theater in Pittsburgh for acting lessons from producer-director Francis Mayville. Mayville, impressed by the boy's deep emotional potential in acting, signed him that day for the part of Stanley in "Streetcar."

Praised by Critic

In the Pittsburgh Press review of "Streetcar" drama critic Kap Monahan said "He has the making of a superior actor."

Owens has been compared to Brando who rose to fame as a result of his portrayal of Stanley in the stage version of "Streetcar". To which he replied: "I guess comparisons are inevitable, but I don't want to be another Brando. I'll settle for just plain Bob Owens."

"A Streetcar Named Desire" opens Tuesday night, June 28, and runs through Saturday night, July 2. The show will have completed a two week run at the International Theater in Pittsburgh.

Stocks Close Mixed; Range Rather Narrow

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—The stock market today made a good try at advancing, but light selling was enough to turn it back. At the close, prices were highly mixed over a rather narrow range.

A few major divisions developed some demand during the session. Among them were the rubbers, cement issues, chemicals, airlines, and major motors. The latter two sections, however, closed mixed.

Also mixed were the steels, distillers, nonferrous metals, and aircrafts.

Railroads started down late in the day and closed lower. Brokers have been watching the railroads closely. Early last week they made a strong showing that then subsided. Without sustained strength in the railroads, these brokers contend, the rest of the market will lack a firm foundation for an advance.

Industrials At New High

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 10 cents at $171.20. On Friday it was up 60 cents at a new high mark, the eighth new high in ten sessions.

Today the industrial component of the average was up 20 cents at a new high of $234.70, and the utilities were up 10 cents at a new high since 1931 of $73.50. The railroads, however, declined 70 cents at $136.50, nearly $2.00 under the high of the year.

To show further the mixed action of the market, there were more gainers than losers in the list—532 up and 461 down out of the 1,233 individual issues traded. Ninety stocks touched new highs for the year while 12 hit new lows.

Volume was good at 2,490,000 shares. That compares with 2,340,000 shares traded Friday.

Ashland Oil was the day's most active issue off 1 1/4 at 15 1/2 on 57,800 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 1,100,000 shares. That compares with 990,000 shares traded Friday. The bond market was mixed. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were steady.

Longest Eclipse In Years Veiled By Heavy Rain Clouds

COLOMBO, Ceylon, June 20 (AP)—The sun was hidden by the moon over a great stretch of South Asia today in probably the longest total eclipse in 1,238 years—but few of the scientists gathered in Ceylon could see it.

Heavy rain clouds hung over most of the area from which the eclipse might have been observed, although the scientific observation posts had been set up in what is statistically the driest part of north central Ceylon.

Only a team from Harvard University could report even fairly satisfactory viewing conditions. This team took photographs of the infrared spectrum of the sun in eclipse. Other American and Swiss, French, German, British and Japanese scientists said their instruments could record nothing.

Lasted Seven Minutes

The total eclipse lasted 7 minutes, 7.8 seconds at the center of its path. In the Philippines it was 7 minutes, 4 seconds. The 18-mile-wide band of darkness started in the Indian Ocean at dawn and advanced 24 miles a minute over about 1,276,000 square miles of the earth's surface, including Ceylon.

LANCASTER, June 20 (AP)—Cattle 3,062, liberal receipts of fat steers moved slowly. Calves 622, good to choice 23.00 to 25.00, a few selects at 28.00. Hogs 392, market 26 cents to 27 cents higher, early top prices 23.00. Sheep 461, market one dollar lower, choice spring lambs 23.00 to 25.00, medium to good 18.00.

Thailand, Indochina and the Philippines.

In the 20th Century only four total eclipses have lasted longer than 7 minutes and astronomers find no record of any longer than today's since 717 A.D. The average length is less than three minutes. In the average century there are 66 such total eclipses. The next visible in the United States will be on Oct. 2, 1959.

In India, where the phenomenon was partly visible, hundreds of devout Hindus bathed in sacred rivers to wash away what they considered the evil effects of the eclipse. They believe an eclipse results when the God of Evil temporarily bests the God of Light. Four hundred thousand gathered at Kurukshetra, 80 miles north of Delhi, regarded as the earthly site of the battle of the gods, to immerse themselves in the Kuruksh-

Discussion Of Amendments To Constitution Top Business In Pocono Mountains League

ANALOMINK — Discussion of amendments to the constitution and by-laws highlighted last night's regular monthly meeting of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League here at Stroud Manor.

Eight of the 10 teams in the circuit were represented at last night's gathering. Moorestown and West End A.C. were the clubs not in attendance.

Clinton I. Getz, circuit president, ruled over last night's gathering.

M. N. Warner, treasurer, read a solid financial report to the group of 26 men in attendance.

Getz announced following last night's meeting that each team in the league must report its financial standing at the next meeting, scheduled to be held at Dougherty's Inn, Black Hill, Pa., on Monday, July 18.

A copy of the constitution and by-laws was distributed to each individual present at last night's affair.

Leonard Renaldo, umpire-in-chief of the Pocono Mountains

League, lead a discussion in interpretation of rules and gave the umpire's viewpoint on a lot of disputed plays.

Teams represented at last night's gathering were Tannersville, Kunklestown, Lake Harmony, Reiders, Bushkill, Saylorsburg, Barrett and Analomink.

Henry Weiss and Clarence Smith, first and second vice presidents of the league, were in attendance last night. John Werne, secretary, was unable to be present because of illness.

High School Grid Coaches Outstanding

ONE OF the greatest opening days in the history of the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association Clinic featured the 12th annual session at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday. A crowd of nearly 100 student coaches were on hand for the first of four days of class work.

Walter Marshall, who has won 80 per cent of his football games down through the years at Coal Township High, and Ken Bills, who has lost only 13 of his last 88 games at Danville High, lectured to the large opening day crowd.

Marshall pointed out the correct method of scouting rival grid machines. He gave valuable tips on what to look for during the course of the game.

The Coal Township coach also revealed the importance of scouting to modern day football. He also passed out forms to the various coaches, on which was noted the various questions a scout should be able to answer.

Public Relations

Bills drove home the importance of public relations for a coach, an athletic team and a school. "It is one of the most important items in modern sports," the veteran coach revealed.

The Danville mentor gave suggestions which might help a coach in public relations, not only with newspapers, but with parents of youngsters and the community in general.

Football films followed the regular class room work and an informal dinner was served in the college dining room.

Earl Edwards, North Carolina State, and Steve Sebo, Penn, spoke briefly, as did Bills and Marshall. Marty Baldwin, clinic director, served as toastmaster.

Today's schedule calls for Paul Amen, Army, to lecture from 8 to 9 a.m., while Murray Warmath, Minnesota, rounds out a full morning of football discussion from 9 a.m. to noon. Amen is back from 1 to 2 p.m. and Bob Davis, head basketball coach at Gettysburg, speaks from 2 to 5 p.m.

A buffet party will be held at Glen Brook beginning at 6 p.m. More than 125 students are expected to be on hand for today's clinic session.

Hogan Will Play To Win

DALLAS, June 20 (AP)—Ben Hogan said today he would play golf only for pleasure from now on but that didn't mean he wouldn't be trying to win.

The links great, who suffered the greatest disappointment of a long and storied career yesterday when he lost to Jack Fleck in a playoff for the National Open championship, told newsmen here that he didn't mean he was quitting tournament golf at all. "But I never again will drive myself to prepare for a tournament," he explained.

Meaning

"Playing golf for fun has a different meaning to you than for me," he declared when asked if he thought it was possible to play the game without the idea of winning. "Preparation is where you win or lose," he said. "The fun part of golf is playing. I do not intend to ever drive myself to prepare for a tournament as I did this one. Sure, when I play I'll be doing my best and trying to win. And I'll probably play some more tournaments. But it'll be for fun."

Local Clinic Opens On Successful Note

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Odds favoring Archie Moore over Bobo Olson edged to 2-1 today as the light heavyweight champion predicted he would weigh "174½ pounds" at the weigh-in for Wednesday's defense against the middleweight king.

Moore boxed two rounds at his Summit, N. J., camp with sparring partner Clint Baco and indicated he may box two more tomorrow, the day before his most important fight, Olson shadow boxed, laughing and joking as he turned up on the light bag at his Asbury Park N. J., camp in his final workout.

While the boxers worked out of town, Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, predicted a gate of "$250,000 or more" for the 15-round match at the Polo Grounds, Norris said the advance sale was "around $100,000."

He pointed out that recent outdoor fights in New York had experienced a last minute gate rush when the fans realized they would not see the bout on television. The high for a last day sale was $162,000 for the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin match in 1951.

Although the Moore-Olson scrap will be screened nationally (ABC) the New York area will be blacked out. There will be a network radio broadcast (ABC) with New York included.

Norris said he would meet with Al Weill, manager of heavy-weight champion "Rocky" Marciano two or three days after the fight to arrange a September bout for Marciano. He said a Moore match would be very desirable, if Archie won decisively. However, he also claimed he would be interested in an Olson-Marciano match if Bobo "looked real good."

When the question of Moore's weight was brought up, Norris smiled and said he had the weight checked by "reliable sources" and had every reason to believe Archie would make 175 pounds. Dr. Vincent Nardello of the New York State Athletic Commission nodded his head in agreement.

Moore will get a two-hour period of grace to make the weight if he fails the first time at noon Wednesday. What happens if he doesn't make it then, is open to question.

Tony Petronella of Providence, R. I., president of the National Boxing Assn., said on the phone that he would strip Moore of his title and crown Olson as champ if he won the fight. "You can't penalize Olson for the other man failing to make the weight," he said.

Line Material Plays Ronson To 3-3 Tie

LINE MATERIAL and Ronson battled to a 3-3 deadlock in a Stroudsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth League baseball game at Gordon Giffels Field last night. The struggle was halted after seven innings because of darkness.

Ronson opened up with two runs in the first frame, but Line Material came back to cut its deficit in half in the second.

The hard hitting Ronson club jumped into a 3-1 advantage in the third, but the determined Line Material contingent evened matters by picking up one tally in the fourth and another in the sixth.

Charley Lupin held Ronson to seven hits, three more than his mates were able to pick up off Campbell.

Ronson committed four errors in the field and Line Material made two defensive blunders.

A triple by Shick, left fielder for Ronson, was the only extra base blow of the game.

Two games are on the agenda for today, both set for 6:15 p.m. Monroe Silk plays at Barrett, while Worthington Mower and International Buller Works collide at Giffels Field.

Monroe Silk players will leave from the Monroe County YMCA at 5 p.m. Any fathers wishing to drive to Barrett are asked to be present at the same time.

No games will be played in the league tomorrow, due to the coaching clinic banquet to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. No date was announced for replay of last night's battle.

Mueller Challenges Ashburn For Leadership In Batting

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Don Mueller, dubbed the "Magician" because of his batting skills, is up to his old tricks again. The New York Giants' outfielder boosted his average 7 points to .339 to close in on Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, who leads the National League with .352.

Conley Hurls Braves To Nod Over Bucs

MILWAUKEE, June 20 (AP)—Big Gene Conley hurled four hit ball for Milwaukee tonight as the Braves dunned the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

The Braves counted their first run in the fourth inning when Johnny Logan doubled down the right field line, scoring Billy Bruton who had singled and then stole second.

Milwaukee's second run came via the same combination in the sixth. Bruton reached third when Gene Freese muffed his grounder and then threw wildly to second. Logan fled to right field to score Bruton.

Pittsburgh scored in the eighth when Dale Long singled. Toby Atwell singled to center field and Long scored, with Atwell going to third when Bruton threw the ball into the Pirate dugout.

Vern Law of the Pirates gave up only three hits before being replaced by Bob Purkey in the eighth. Purkey gave up one hit.

Conley held the Pirates hitless until the fourth inning when Jerry Lynch singled to right. Dave Cole singled in the seventh.

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

JERRY PALMA, head basketball coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, may be on vacation from his school work at the present time, but the likeable mentor still has more problems than a sea captain in a hurricane. Jerry is going through his every day paces with fingers crossed, hopeful that reports that have Charley German headed for Muhlenberg next September are false. German was the outstanding member of the ESSTC squad last season and earned honorable mention on the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania squad.

As if the German problem isn't enough to keep the gray-matter upset, Palma must also face the fact that he will be without the services of Denny Sullivan and Jack Burke, both freshmen last season, when the 1955-1956 campaign whirls into view. Both have flunked out of school. Sullivan was a regular member of the squad, while Burke was one of the chief replacements and figured highly in future plans.

While on the subject of basketball and ESSTC, it might be mentioned that George Heidenreich was recently named head coach at Packer Regional High School, near Nutley, N.J. George, a four-year veteran of basketball up on Normal Hill, takes over his new duties in September. Charley German, head football coach at Lehigh Valley, was present for the opening day of the 12th annual Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association Clinic up on Normal Hill yesterday.

Pocono Manor received plenty of publicity via a national television hookup on Saturday, as an hour of action in the National Open was carried from coast to coast. Art Wall, who represents Pocono Manor on the pro trail, was a target for cameras most of the last two holes. He finished brilliantly with a 12-foot putt and brought praise from Gene Sarazen, veteran player who served as commentator. Wall, a native of Honesdale, was called "one of the leading young players in the business," by Sarazen.

Glen Brook Country Club, one of the area's leading courses is planning a big Pro-Member Tournament for September. Wilkes College and ESSTC will continue their soccer rivalry next season. The game will be played in Wilkes-Barre on Wednesday, November 2. Don't forget that both the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Little Leagues will hold National Polio Day on Wednesday. Ray Kasmann, former basketball and baseball star at ESSTC, is now serving with the Army at Fort Dix.

The Midget Football program is rapidly gaining headway in East Stroudsburg. John Yarr, who recently resigned as the Palmerton High football coach, will move into the Lehigh Valley school system next September. Yarr is being replaced at the Lehigh Valley grid helm by John Young, who will be making his third appearance in this post in the last 16 years. Young has been alternating between the Palmerton faculty and the Navy in recent years.

Win Evans, Palmerton's outstanding basketball coach, was named as assistant football mentor by Young. Cleve Hollywood is the other assistant. Warren Zimmerman, former Lehigh Valley basketball coach and currently teaching in the Phoenix, Ariz., school system, is vacationing in Lehigh Valley at the present time. Zimmerman will be an assistant football coach at Phoenix next autumn and is currently enrolled at the clinic now in session on Normal Hill.

Bob Mikvy, Palmerton's outstanding sophomore basketball star last winter, is working in Allentown City this summer. Fellows who have dabbed in basketball in this area in recent years should know better than to make phony telephone calls. Somebody might get burned. Ronnie Leeb, who once pitched for Carbondale, in the now defunct class "D" North Atlantic League, is sporting a record of three victories and two defeats for Schenectady, of the class "A" Eastern League, at the present time.

The Varsity "S" Association meeting will be held at Stroudsburg Municipal Building on Thursday. Every club member should attend. This is the gathering at which officers for the coming year will be nominated and elected. Every member of the organization should take part in this business. Collections in the Bangor Little League recently resulted in $11.36 being forwarded to the National Polio Foundation.

Lumbermen Retain Unbeaten Little League Status

HLH Becomes Victim Number Eight, 9-1

CRAMER LUMBER continues to glide along its undefeated way in the East Stroudsburg Little League, following a 9-1 decision over Heller-Lloyd-Howe last night.

The victory was the eighth in as many tries for the Lumbermen, while the setback was the sixth in eight trips to the starting gate for HLH.

Cramer's club jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first frame and held

The Lumbermen went on to add single insurance runs in the third and fifth stanzas.

HLH averted a shutout by reaching the winning pitcher for one run in the second.

Cramer's sluggers held a 7-4 edge in hits and committed three errors in the field. HLH booted only two defensive plays.

One of the big blows in a winning cause was a home run by Hardy in the third inning with the bases empty.

Today's schedule calls for the Methodists to tangle with East Stroudsburg National Bank, on the same field, at 6:30 p. m.

Two Prominent Americans Bow In Wimbledon Tennis Openers

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20 (AP)—Sweden's slugging Sven Davidson whipped American star Ham Richardson in a rugged five set match today to lead a rout of seven Yanks on the opening day of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

The second prominent American to follow Richardson to the sidelines was 41-year-old Gardner Mulloy who was playing big league tennis when many of the youngsters of the 69th Wimbledon championships weren't as tall as the racquets they now use.

Mulloy of Miami, Fla., lost to Britain's No. 1 player, Tony Mottram, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1 while Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., put up a much tougher fight before losing to Davidson, seeded No. 8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 8-6.

Laughing Gas Moves Bees

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 20 (AP)—Harold L. Kelly demonstrated that moving a colony of bees can be a simple business—if they are subdued first with "laughing gas," Kelly, a bee keeper, moved a hive of bees that way without using a headnet or gloves. He put on the demonstration at a beekeepers' convention.

Firm Buys Wholesale Grocery Co.

DAVIES, STRAUSS & Stauffer Co., of Easton, one of the oldest wholesale grocery firms in this section, has been purchased by the William Montgomery Co., one of Philadelphia's largest wholesale food firms. Robert L. Montgomery, president of the Philadelphia firm, announced the purchase yesterday. The price was not disclosed.

Headquarters of the company will be moved to Bethlehem and the Stroudsburg branch will be discontinued, Montgomery announced. All buying will be done in Philadelphia, he said.

"Other than this, no changes are contemplated," he asserted.

Operation of the D. S. & S. firm will be continued as a Montgomery subsidiary. The label brands, "Blue Knot" and "Busy Biddy," also will be continued. Charles R. Stauffer, former president and treasurer of D. S. & S., has been appointed manager of the new operation, Montgomery said.

D. S. & S. has its main warehouse at 230 Ferry St., Easton, and branch warehouses in Bethlehem and Stroudsburg. Until last October it also had a warehouse in Allentown.

Lutz Given Prison Term, Fined $500

PRISON SENTENCES were imposed yesterday in Northampton County Court upon two men arrested as principals in the "Empire" lottery racket in Bethlehem April 11.

Two-year sentences and $500 fines were imposed on Lloyd F. Lutz, 44, of Mount Pocono, and Francis G. Cunningham, 53, of Bethlehem. Lutz can apply for parole in seven months and Cunningham in four months if the fines and costs are paid.

The court said Lutz must stay in jail longer because of previous convictions. He was fined $300 for trafficking in lottery tickets in 1949 in Williamsport and was sent to jail for three months in 1933 for receiving stolen goods in Lycoming County.

No Previous Record
Cunningham had no previous record. A veteran steel company employee, he was said to be a high officer in a church organization in Bethlehem.

The sentence on Cunningham was imposed by President Judge William G. Barthold. Judge William A. Frack sentenced Lutz. Judge Frack made it a condition of the sentence that $2,400 found on Lutz when he was arrested should be forfeited to the county. Judge Carleton T. Woodring, who sat with the other judges as the sentence was imposed, ruled also that a petition by Lutz for return of the money should be denied.

Existing agreement provides that the Vacation Bureau make a $2,500 contribution to the expenses of the joint office in Stroudsburg.

Remainder of the salaries, expenses and rent is paid entirely by Chamber of Commerce. Vacation Bureau representatives on the Chamber board agreed to name a similar group to confer on the problem of another plan for financing the dual office operation.

The Chamber committee, Mr. Crowe said, includes Roy Mikels, Walter Peeney, Dale H. Learn and J. L. Cohen.
TV Broadcasting Inc., a concern which makes movies for TV display and other purposes showing the advantages of a community for recreation business and industry, displayed a sample film. Directors took the concern's proposal under advisement.

Plans for revival of the county-wide Chamber of Commerce convention at one of the major hotels this fall are taking specific form, directors were advised by officers.

Leader Sets Execution Date For Slaying Wable, Capps

HARRISBURG, June 20 (AP)—Gov. Leader today fixed the week of Sept. 26 for the execution of two convicted killers, one of them John Wesley Wable, Pennsylvania Turnpike "phantom" slayer.

The other is George Capps, 22, who was sentenced to death in the slaying of a 15-year-old girl baby-sitter near Levittown.

Wable was convicted in Westmoreland County of first degree murder in the slaying of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va. Pitts was shot to death as he slept in the cab of his truck parked along the superhighway near Greensburg on July 25, 1953.

Capps was sentenced to death on conviction of slaying Martha Gibbons, Jan. 22, 1954.

Girl Attacked
The girl, a neighbor of Capps, was attacked and murdered near Curtis Lake, Fall Twp., Bucks County, while taking care of some young children for a neighbor.

The state Supreme Court upheld both death sentences at its May session in Harrisburg. The court later denied a motion for a new hearing for Wable.

The governor's office said the state Pardons Board at its September meeting will hear a plea for commutation of sentence for Capps.

Wable's counsel has 60 days to file an application for clemency for his client.

Conviction Justified
The state Supreme Court three weeks ago ruled that the jury in the Wable case was "well justified" in convicting him.

The prosecution at his trial also sought to link Wable with an alibi most identical slaying of another truck driver and the non-fatal shooting of a third. They were called "phantom" shootings because there were no eye witnesses.

Wable denied at his trial that he was the triggerman in the shootings.

The Turnpike killings resulted in the death of Pitts, Lester R. Woodward, 39, Duncan, Pa., three days later, and the wounding of John K. Shepherd, 34, of West Alexander, Pa.

Senate Confirms Clarence Bowers

HARRISBURG, June 20 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed unanimously Gov. Leader's appointment of Clarence P. Bowers, Reading, as a member of the State Labor Relations Board to serve until June 2, 1959.

Also confirmed were four appointments as workmen's compensation referees.

The confirmations followed a warning by John R. Torquato, secretary of labor and industry, that many workmen's compensation cases and other labor matters are piling up in state offices because of confirmation of the appointees had not been made.

Confirmed as referees were: William E. Miller, Pittsburgh; John H. Cartwright, Ridgway; Harry E. Diehl, Claysburg, and David R. Eaby, Ephrata.

Your ideals are lofty, your judgment good, so it's really up to you. Try to be satisfied with doing well in one occupation. Don't scatter your energies and talents carelessly. You are usually active, adaptable to turns of affairs. Avoid extremes, acting without proper study. You could be an excellent lawyer, artist, musician. Remain calm, patient.

T-B Society Sending Two To Conference

MRS. ESTELLE Fleming, executive secretary and Mrs. Mae Fahring, office secretary of Monroe County Tuberculosis Society will attend the fourth of a series of seven sectional conferences on Christmas Seal sale and fall and winter plans.

The meeting will be held at Fox Hill Country Club near Pittston this Thursday.

R. Winfield Smith, executive director of the State TB and Health Society, said in his call for the regional conference: "There is still much unfinished business in the battle to conquer tuberculosis."

Smith said that while fewer people are dying of the disease, many more are returning to their home and communities. That means, he held, that most ex-TB patients may become useful, self-supporting citizens, if adequate rehabilitation is available to them.

Early Discovery Aim

More than a third of all new cases of TB are diagnosed as far advanced, Smith said. Aim is to make an earlier discovery to enhance chances of cure. Smith said any relaxation against TB would be folly because "we know that about 35 per cent of the people in Pennsylvania have been infected with TB germs and can break down with active disease anytime."

In addition to Monroe, these other counties will be represented: Lackawanna, Luzerne, Pike, Wayne, Wyoming and Susquehanna counties.

it is to drive a CHRYSLER!"

Chrysler owners know it and we'd like you to know it—Chrysler is winning performance honors, hands down!

Come prove it to yourself by taking the "100-Million-Dollar Ride!" It's a driving thrill that no other car can give you . . . with America's finest family of V-8 engines to choose from . . . up to 300 hp; mightiest of all! Teamed, mind you, with PowerFlite automatic no-clutch drive . . . which for honey-smooth take-off power leaves even "second best" out of sight!

Chrysler is a big car. Low, long and sleek. It has fashion experts coining new terms to fit it, like "tailored steel." Yet, thanks to countless exclusive drive-features (all Chrysler-originated) it handles as easy as a wave of your hand. There's Full-time Power Steering, for one. Chrysler Power Brakes, for another. Extra large . . . extra easy to apply . . . extra safe stopping power!

That's why we say you're not only miles ahead in a Chrysler, but years ahead as well. Isn't now a good time to start pacing the field in the car that's the big news of 1955? We're ready to start you off—the minute you say when!

COME TAKE THE CHRYSLER "100-MILLION-DOLLAR RIDE!"

GOOD DRIVERS DRIVE SAFELY!
